

What is the church/minister for?

Introduction to using these cards

Each of the sets of cards has their own instructions. These cards are very useful within a Church Life Review when you are trying to get people to see how their view of the church and the role of a minister may vary from one person to another, or overlap with them.

They have previously been used during periods of ministerial transition in churches to aid them in discerning their own priorities and what they are therefore looking for in a minister of Word and Sacraments.
